

Case Study:

Fostering Connection and Creativity: Learner B's Journey at Enablement Care

Tutor: Kay Hill

Learner B joined the Creative Crafts course at Enablement Care with the hope of being part of a group and working collaboratively with others. Through this experience, they developed valuable communication skills, especially in interacting with the tutor and fellow learners.

The course provided a welcoming environment where activities like word searches and coloring offered opportunities for conversation, skill-building, and relationship development. Learner B particularly enjoyed seasonal projects such as creating Halloween decorations, including spider web plates, and festive Christmas tree ornaments.

A key highlight for Learner B was the one-to-one time with their tutor, Kay, which made them feel supported, cared for, and genuinely listened to. This personalized attention, combined with the group setting, helped Learner B form friendships and feel more confident in working alongside others.

Learner B shared that the course inspired them to continue exploring creative activities like crafting, playing games, and doing word searches. These hobbies not only allow them to express their interests but also give them more opportunities to connect and collaborate with others.

By the end of the course, Learner B felt more confident in sharing their ideas and engaging in conversations. They described the course as a meaningful way to combat loneliness and build a supportive community, particularly for individuals who may feel isolated or lack family connections.

Learner B highly recommends ATTFE College to anyone seeking a chance to socialise, learn new skills, and gain self-confidence. Reflecting on their journey, they expressed enthusiasm for continuing to participate in similar activities and enjoying more fulfilling, creative weeks ahead.

